

Generation Maine

BRAND GUIDE · VERSION 1.0 · SEPTEMBER 2026

How to use the Generation Maine name, logo, colors, type and voice. Written for the project lead and the creators.

An initiative of Maine Policy Institute

Young Mainers on building a life here

Positioning

Generation Maine is a set of short videos and a Substack made by 8 to 12 young Maine creators about how economic rules shape their lives. Most youth policy media is national, partisan or produced by adults. Generation Maine is local, made by the creators themselves and open about who funds it.

Brand promise

You will hear young Mainers describe their own lives in their own words, and you will always know who is behind the project.

Credibility stance

Radical transparency. "An initiative of Maine Policy Institute" appears on the site, every end card and every channel bio. It is never hidden or shrunk into fine print.

Creator ownership. Creators' faces and voices lead. Their name and hometown appear on every lower third. The logo signs the work and never covers it.

Personality

Trait	This	Not that
Local	Real towns, real rents, real commutes	"America" or "Gen Z" in general
Straightforward	What happened and what it cost	Hype, slogans, talking points
Curious	Asks why a rule works the way it does	Tells the viewer what to think
Warm	A friend explaining their week	A campaign or a classroom

Stay away from

Flags, stars, eagles and founding-era Americana. Heavy red and blue pairings. Stock photos. Gradients everywhere. Literal lobsters and lighthouses.

One wordmark, one dot

The dot on the i in "Maine" is a record light. It is always round, always Lupine pink in the full-color logo and never moves. The icon pairs a bold G with the same dot for avatars and favicons.

Files: `brand/Logo/` has SVG plus 512 and 1024 px PNGs for every version, and the favicon set.

Give it room

Clear space rule: keep empty space on every side equal to two diameters of the pink dot ●. No text, edges or other logos inside that space. The same rule applies to the stacked logo and the icon.

Minimum sizes

Version	Screen	Print
Primary (one line)	120 px wide	1.25 in wide
Stacked	72 px wide	0.75 in wide
Icon	16 px (favicon)	0.3 in

Below 120 px wide, switch from the primary logo to the icon. On creator videos, the logo sits in a corner at no more than 12 percent of the frame width.

Contour lines, frames and the dot

Contour lines

Moss lines on Spruce, 2 to 4 px thick. Crop freely. Keep them off faces and away from text. Ready-made: `pattern-contours.png`.

Frames

Photos and video stills sit in rounded rectangles with a 24 px corner radius (18 px on small items). Vertical 9:16 frames nod to phone video.

The dot

● One Lupine dot per composition. Use it as a period at the end of a headline, a record light, or a bullet. Never more than one large dot on a page or screen.

Real creators in real Maine places

Do

Photograph the creators where their stories happen: a kitchen table, a job site, a Main Street storefront, a bus stop, a dorm room, a town office.

Use natural light. Morning and late-afternoon light suit the palette.

Let people look like themselves. Work clothes, winter coats and messy rooms are fine.

Shoot vertical first. Leave space above the head for a title on thumbnails.

Get written permission from every person shown, and a parent's permission for anyone under 18.

Do not

Use stock photos of smiling young people in offices.

Pose people in front of lighthouses, lobster traps or flags to signal "Maine."

Add heavy filters, color grades or gradients over faces.

Show a person in a way that suggests they hold a policy view they have not stated.

Portrait for the website

4:5 ratio, at least 1000 × 1250 px, face in the upper half, plain or real background. Upload it as the creator's Portrait (featured image).

Stories, not positions

DO

"My rent went up $200 when the lease renewed."

DO

Name the town: "in Waterville"

"Here is what the permit process looked like for me."

DO

Ask: "Why does this license cost so much?"

DO

Plain words: "The town said no."

DON'T

"The housing crisis is crushing our generation!"

DON'T

Go national: "across America"

DON'T

"Politicians don't want you to know this."

DON'T

Declare: "This law is a disaster."

DON'T

Jargon: "regulatory burden on small enterprise"

Example video headlines

Samples of the style only. They are not real videos.

What rent costs in Lewiston

I tried to open a food truck

Why my friends moved to Boston

My first paycheck, line by line

How long a building permit took

Should I stay after college?

Keep titles to 3 to 7 words. No em dashes. No all-caps sentences.

Always visible, always the same words

An initiative of Maine Policy Institute

Exact wording

"An initiative of Maine Policy Institute." Do not shorten it to "MPI" and do not replace it with "sponsored by" or "presented by."

Where it appears

Website: in the hero above the headline, in its own "About Maine Policy Institute" section and in the footer.

Social: every channel bio, every 9:16 end card, the YouTube banner and the Substack about page.

Minimum size

Website: 13 px or larger, in Inter, at full contrast (Fog on Spruce or Ink on light backgrounds).

1080 × 1920 end card: 32 px or larger. 1200 × 630 share card: 28 px or larger.

Never lower its contrast below 4.5:1 and never place it on top of busy footage.

Using the social kit

Set up Canva once

1. Open Brand Kit and add the colors: #0B4A34, #EDF0F4, #F0509A, #121417, #34795A, #FFC2DD.
2. Upload `BricolageGrotesque-ExtraBold.ttf` and the two Inter files from `brand/fonts/` (font upload needs Canva Pro). Without Pro, pick Inter from Canva's font list and a bold sans-serif for headlines.
3. Upload the logo PNGs from `brand/logo/` to the Brand Kit logos.
4. Upload the `-blank.png` backgrounds from `brand/social/`.

Make a post

1. Create a design at the right size (for example 1080 × 1920 for an end card).
2. Drag in the matching blank background and lock it.
3. Add text boxes where the placeholders were. Use the finished PNG as your guide.
4. Check the attribution line is there and readable.

CapCut

1. Add `lower-third-1920x1080-blank.png` as an overlay and type the name and hometown on top.
2. End every video with the end card for 3 to 5 seconds.
